Program	Brief Description of Program	Number of Youth Served SFY 2018	Number of Youth Served SFY 2019	How Do Youth Come Into the Program?	Other Involved Entities?
Detention/Home Detention	A short-term locked confinement for delinquent youths awaiting adjudication, placement, or serving a sentence as ordered by a Juvenile Court Judge. Youths participate in school, cognitive behavioral skill building groups, recreational activities and family visitation. There are 16 staffed beds at the facility. Home Detention is a community alternative to secure detention where staff provide the following community supervision: phone contacts, face-to-face contacts, parent/guardian meetings, and school monitoring.	40	39	Law Enforcement and Court Orders	Law Enforcement, Juvenile Court, Schools
Juvenile Receiving Center	Juvenile Receiving Centers are located across the state for law enforcement officers to drop off arrested, delinquent, ungovernable, or runaway youth who do not meet admission guidelines for secure detention. These centers operate in partnership with the Division of Juvenile, Division of Child and Family Services (DCFS), law enforcement, the Juvenile Court, and local communities. Upon receiving a youth, Center workers immediately attempt to contact the youth's parent(s) or guardian(s). They evaluate the youth's immediate needs for security and care and make referrals for services when appropriate.	65	74	Law Enforcement	Law Enforcement, Four Corners Behavioral Health, DCFS, Schools
Youth Services	Youth Services Centers provide voluntary crisis counseling and supports to runaway, homeless, and ungovernable youth and their families. Centers also accept self, parent and public referrals as well as referrals from receiving centers. Youth Services Centers provide the following services: Crisis intervention for immediate assessment and crisis counseling, 60-day counseling including extended counseling services for youth and families that need additional support to manage acute crises, Crisis Residential which provides a safe and structured environment for youths with problems that cannot be resolved through crisis intervention and who cannot immediately be returned home.	149	113	Parent, School, Self Referrals	Community Families and Youth, Schools, Law Enforcement, DCFS, Workforce Services, Four Corners Behavioral Health (LMHA), Circles/SEUALG, Voc Rehab, Food Bank, Systems of Care, Families First

In-Home Observation and Assessment	In-Home Observation & Assessment provides evaluation, crisis intervention, treatment planning and recommendations for adjudicated youth pending disposition. Youths receive comprehensive mental, behavioral, social, and educational assessments to identify their needs for services. Psychological and psychiatric/medication evaluations are completed when indicated. Youths ordered to the program are assigned a senior counselor/clinician who gathers the necessary information for the court report. Regular and frequent visits occur at the youth's home and staff work with the school to provide support to the school during the assessment period. Assessment results form the basis for recommendations made to the Juvenile Court.	0	0	Court Referral	Juvenile Court, Four Corners Behavioral Health, Schools, Families First, Systems of Care
Case Management	A JJS Case Manager is assigned to each youth and makes placement decisions, monitors progress, helps determine consequences for noncompliance with rules, shoulders responsibility for the documentation required for the Division to collect federal entitlement payments, coordinates with providers, communicates with the youth's family, and represents the Division in court. Case Management services continue after youth are released from a secure facility.	7	5	Youth are ordered into JJS Custody by a Juvenile Court Judge	Juvenile Court, Private Providers, Voc Rehab, Four Corners Behavioral Health, Schools, Workforce Services, System of Care, DJJS Secure Care, Youth Parole Authority
School Based Outreach	School based services are designed to improve a youth's attendance and academic performance as well as teach prosocial skills such as problem solving, peer refusal, and anger management. This service strives to promote each youth's self-efficacy, competence, resilience and belief in the future. The program will: teach problem solving, decision making, goal setting and resiliency skills through quick interactive lessons in the school and community; establish collaborative relationships with outside agencies (mental health, school district, law enforcement, DCFS, probation) to keep youth accountable and educate families about what resources are available in the community; and mentor select youth.	265	117	Schools	Schools, Four Corners Behavioral Health, Systems of Care, Families First, School Resource Officer, DCFS
